Pentagon EMS Signs The Murray A. Percival Company, Expanding Line Representation In Midwest

Beaverton, OR (January 24, 2008) – Pentagon EMS Corporation, a premier designer and manufacturer of custom tooling and fixtures for the electronic assembly industry, today announced the signing of the Murray A. Percival Company (MAPCo), the well known, progressive Manufacturers Rep firm and distributor of electronic assembly equipment and materials in the Midwestern States.

With 48 years in business, MAPCo, along with it's 19 associates, serves and supports it's customers and prospects in the Midwest Region from offices located in Auburn Hills and Plainwell Michigan, Cincinnati , Cleveland and Newark, Ohio and Indianapolis, Indiana.

"We are proud to represent our new partners at Pentagon EMS," says company President Murray A. Percival Jr. "This newly formed relationship will benefit current and future customers by providing PCB tooling solutions in a cost competitive manner. Trademarks of both organizations include, honesty, integrity, strong relationships and hard work."

About The Murray A. Percival Company

The Murray A. Percival Company was founded forty eight years ago by Murray A. Percival Sr. Today the company continues to serve customers throughout offices in Michigan, Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Kentucky and their newest location in Indiana. The company warehouse and headquarters is located in a new 12,000 square foot building in Auburn Hills Michigan. Because of MAPCo's long standing reputation and determination they are able to offer some of the most sought after circuit assembly materials and equipment in the industry, providing not only material and equipment, but also offering training, consulting, testing services, process development and more.
